

----- Forwarded by Hartwig Schafer/Person/World Bank on 01/08/2008 12:21 PM -----

Hartwig Schafer

12/30/2007 03:06 PM
33720 AFRVP

To RBZ

cc Auguste Tano Kouame, Caroline D. Anstey, Colin Bruce, Harold L. Bedoya, Marie-H. P. Bricknell, Ngozi N.
Okonjo-Iweala, Obiageli Katryn Ezekwesili, Peter Gallant,
Robert V. Pulley, Vera Songwe, Watch Officer

Subject second Update on Kenya Elections []

Dear Bob,

Mr. Kimunya, the Finance Minister, was returned but Mr. Kituyi, the Minister of Trade and Industry, lost.

In the last couple of hours developments have become more tense. Some international and local observers have now begun to question the validity of ECK's tally of the presidential vote while continuing to praise the handling of the voting on election day and the parliamentary count. Tensions are escalating. Mr. Odinga has called a rally for tomorrow to be installed as the people's president. We are expecting further unrest.

We will keep you posted.

regards, Hart

Hartwig Schafer
Director of Operations
Africa Region
Phone: +1-202-473-3720
Fax: +1-202-522-3158
email: hschafer@worldbank.org
Web: www.worldbank.org/afr/ (pick country from menu)

LET THE WIND BEND YOU BUT NOT BREAK YOU (Chewa Proverb)